

Light

The show starts, the dimming of a light.
The actors take the stage, in a beam of light.

A sleepover, a pillow fight,
Feathers ride the air, feathers light.

Opportunities around the corner,
Each filled with hope and light.

Cars move in the busy intersection,
Order maintained with a signal light.

Two men stand under a street lamp,
They share a smoke, cigarettes flaming with light.

The cars on the highway move quickly,
Rush hour is over because traffic is light.

Though faced with a difficulty,
His attitude was optimistic and light.

The happy son ran into his mother's arms,
And the mother gave him a soft kiss that was light.
