Writing for a Cause

Finding purpose in your writing

Everyone writes for a purpose. Through examples of what motivated her writing, Lucinda will talk about her motivation to write for social change around women's place in society, and Jill will talk about how her love for animals morphed into causes that shifted the direction of her novels.

Finding purpose in your writing

Everyone writes for a purpose. If they dig deep enough, they may find a deeper purpose to their life stories, prose, or verse.
