“From those early days to today our two organizations have worked, each in our own way, to expose and enlighten the public about our various art forms and encourage and mentor the artists who produce it.”

Lial A Jones, Mort and Marcy Friedman Director & CEO
Crocker Art Museum

“We extend our congratulations to the California Writers Club Sacramento for a century of honoring writing and of showcasing the value of the Sacramento writing community. Learning about the past strengthens our connection to California and each other, and encourages the next generation of writers. Hats off to all dedicated to the written word.”

Greg Lucas, California State Librarian

“The importance of supporting writers and supporting their works is even more important today now than ever. We must strive to defend the right of all to read freely.... Books provide windows into other lives, and mirrors into our own. Thank you for all you do to support the literary community....”

“The Center for Sacramento History works hard to preserve the history of our region so that writers of all kinds can draw upon the wealth of local stories and interpret them to readers around the globe. We applaud local writers of all genres. Thanks to all for contributing to our history and thanks to the California Writers Club Sacramento for putting on this event.”
